§ 2 Jurisdiction-General

The Courts of the Cherokee Nation may exercise jurisdiction on any basis consistent with the Cherokee Nation Constitution.

§ 3 Law to be Applied

The courts shall apply the laws of the Cherokee Nation. The laws of the Cherokee Nation shall include the Constitution of the Cherokee Nation, all statutes heretofore and hereafter enacted by the Tribal Council and the Cherokee common law. The Cherokee common law consists of the traditional customs and usages of the Cherokee people since time immemorial. § 4 Force of the Cherokee Common Law

The Cherokee Common Law, as modified by the Constitution of the Cherokee Nation, statutes, judicial decisions, and the condition and wants of the people, shall remain in full force and effect within the Cherokee Nation in like force with any statute of the Cherokee Nation insofar as the common law is not so modified, but all Cherokee Nation laws shall be liberally construed to promote their objective.

§ 12 Reserved

§ 13 Parens Patriae

A. The Cherokee Nation Attorney General may bring a civil action in the name of the Cherokee Nation as parens patriae on behalf of tribal members of the Cherokee Nation to secure monetary relief for injuries and damages sustained by such persons by reason of any violation of law, including but not limited to, violations of the Cherokee Nation Unfair & Deceptive Practices Act. Aggregate data and evidence shall be deemed admissible if found by the court to be relevant. The court shall exclude from the amount of monetary relief awarded in such action any amount of monetary relief:

1. Which wholly duplicates amounts which have been awarded for the same injury to tribal members of the Cherokee Nation; or
2. Which is properly allocable to natural persons who have excluded their claims pursuant to subsection (C)(2) of this section.

B. The court shall award the Cherokee Nation as monetary relief threefold the total damage sustained, and the cost of suit, including a reasonable attorney's fee. The court may award under this section interest on the total damage for the period beginning on the date of filing of Cherokee Nation's pleading setting forth a claim of parens patriae and ending on the date of judgment at a rate of twenty percent (20%) compounding continuously. In determining whether an award of interest under this paragraph for any period is just in the circumstances the court shall only consider:

1. Whether Cherokee Nation or the opposing party, or either party's representative, made motions or asserted claims or defenses so lacking in merit as to show that such party or representative acted intentionally for delay or otherwise acted in bad faith;

2. Whether, in the course of the action involved, the Cherokee Nation or the opposing party, or either party's representative, violated any applicable rule, statute, or court order providing for sanctions for dilatory behavior or otherwise providing for expeditious proceedings; and
3. Whether Cherokee Nation or the opposing party, or either party's representative, engaged in conduct primarily for the purpose of delaying the litigation or increasing the cost thereof.

C. Notice; exclusion election; final judgment

1. In any action brought under subsection (A)(1) of this section the Attorney General shall, at such times in such manner, and with such content as the court may direct, cause notice thereof to be given by publication. If the court finds that notice given solely by publication would deny due process of law to any person or persons, the court may direct further notice to such person or persons according to the circumstances of the case;
2. Any person on whose behalf an action is brought under subsection (A)(1) of this section may elect to exclude from adjudication the portion of the Cherokee Nation claim for monetary relief attributable to him by filing notice of such election with the court within such time as specified in the notice given pursuant to paragraph (1) of this subsection;
3. The final judgment in an action under subsection (A)(1) of this section shall be res judicata as to any claim under this title by any person on behalf of whom such action was brought and who fails to give such notice within the period specified in the notice given pursuant to paragraph (1) of this subsection.

D. Attorney's fees in any action under subsection (A) of this section:

1. The amount of the plaintiffs' attorneys fees shall be determined by the court; and
2. The court may, in its discretion, award a reasonable attorney's fee to a prevailing defendant upon a finding by clear and convincing evidence that the Attorney General has acted in bad faith, vexatiously, wantonly, or for oppressive reasons.

§ 14 Wrongful Death

- A. A claim for wrongful death may be brought against a person who, by his negligence or by willful, wanton or reckless acts, causes the death of another under such circumstances that the deceased could have recovered damages for personal injuries if death had not resulted.
- B. A person shall be liable for the negligence or the willful, wanton or reckless act of his agents or servants to the same extent and subject to the same limits as he would be liable under this section for his own act.
- C. An action to recover damages under this section shall be commenced within five (5) years from the date of death, or within five years from the date when the deceased's executor or next of kin knew, or in the exercise of reasonable diligence, should have known of all the elements for a cause of action.
- D. The damages recoverable in actions for wrongful death as provided in this section shall include the following:
1. Medical and burial expenses which shall be distributed to the person who paid the expenses or to the decedent's estate if paid by the estate;
 2. The loss of consortium and the grief of the surviving spouse, which shall be distributed to the surviving spouse;
 3. The mental pain and anguish suffered by the decedent, which shall be distributed to the surviving spouse and children, if any, or next of kin in the same proportion as personal property of the decedent;
 4. The pecuniary loss to the survivors based upon properly admissible evidence with regard thereto including, but not limited to, the age, occupation, earning capacity, health habits, and probable duration of the decedent's life, which must inure to the exclusive benefit of the surviving spouse and children, if any, or next of kin, and shall be distributed to them according to their pecuniary loss;
 5. The grief and loss of companionship of the children and parents of the decedent, which shall be distributed to them according to their grief and loss of companionship;

6. The fair monetary value of the decedent to the persons entitled to receive the damages recovered, including but not limited to compensation for the loss of the reasonably expected income, services, protection, care, assistance, society, companionship, comfort, guidance, counsel, and advice of the decedent to the persons entitled to the damages recovered;

7. Punitive or exemplary damages may also be recovered against the person proximately causing the wrongful death or his representative if such person be deceased, in such case as the decedent's death was caused by the malicious, willful, wanton or reckless conduct of the defendant or by the gross negligence of the defendant. Such damages, if recovered, shall be distributed to the surviving spouse and children, if any, or next of kin in the same proportion as personal property of the decedent.

E. Where the recovery is to be distributed according to a person's pecuniary loss or loss of companionship, the judge shall determine the proper division;

F. The above-mentioned distributions shall be made after the payment of legal expenses and costs of the action.

§ 15 Joint Tortfeasors

A. Joint tortfeasors are two or more persons who either:

1. Act in concert to commit a tort;
2. Act independently but cause a single indivisible tortious injury; or
3. Share responsibility for a tort because of vicarious liability.

B. Each joint tortfeasor shall be held jointly and severally liable for the plaintiff's total damages;

C. The doctrine of learned intermediary is specifically rejected;

D. The innovator of a device, drug or other product may be held liable for fraud or misrepresentation, by misstatement or omission, based on statements it made in connection with the manufacture, safety, and efficacy of the original device, drug or product by a plaintiff claiming injury caused by a generic product manufactured by a different company.

§ 16 Class Actions

- A. All persons may join in one action as plaintiffs if:
1. They assert any right to relief jointly, severally, or in the alternative, in respect of or arising out of the same transaction, occurrence, personal injury or series of transactions or occurrences and if any question of law or fact common to all these persons will arise in the action; or
 2. They have a claim, right, or interest adverse to the defendant in the property or controversy which is the subject of the action.
- B. It is not necessary that each plaintiff be interested as to every cause of action or as to all relief prayed for. Judgment may be given for one or more of the plaintiffs according to their respective right to relief.
- C. All persons may be joined in one action as defendants if there is asserted against them:
1. Any right to relief jointly, severally, or in the alternative, in respect of or arising out of the same transaction, occurrence, injury or series of transactions or occurrences and if any question of law or fact common to all these persons will arise in the action; or
 2. A claim, right, or interest adverse to them in the property or controversy which is the subject of the action.
- D. It is not necessary that each defendant be interested as to every cause of action or as to all relief prayed for. Judgment may be given against one or more defendants according to their respective liabilities.
- E. Where the plaintiff is in doubt as to the person from whom he or she is entitled to redress, he or she may join two or more defendants, with the intent that the question as to which, if any, of the defendants is liable, and to what extent, may be determined between the parties.
- F. When parties have been joined under Section (A) or (B), the court may make such orders as may appear just to prevent any party from being embarrassed, delayed, or put to undue expense, and may order separate trials or make such other order as the interests of justice may require.
- G. If the consent of anyone who should have been joined as plaintiff cannot be obtained, he may be made a defendant, the reason thereof being stated in the complaint; and when the question is one of a common or general interest, of many persons, or when the parties are numerous, and it is impracticable to bring them all before the court, one or more may sue or defend for the benefit of all.

H. It is the intent of the Tribal Council in enacting this section to ensure that the unpaid residuals in class action litigation are distributed, to the extent possible, in a manner designed either to further the purposes of the underlying causes of action, or to promote justice for all Cherokees. The Tribal Council finds that the use of funds collected by the Court Fund pursuant to this section for these purposes is in the public interest, is a proper use of the funds, and is consistent with essential public and governmental purposes.

I. Prior to the entry of any judgment in a class action, the court shall determine the total amount that will be payable to all class members, if all class members are paid the pro rata amount to which they are entitled pursuant to the judgment. The court shall also set a date when the parties shall report to the court the total amount that was actually paid to the class members. After the report is received, the court shall amend the judgment to direct the defendant to pay the sum of the unpaid residue, plus interest on that sum at the legal rate of interest from the date of entry of the initial judgment, to organizations or foundations to support projects that will benefit the class or similarly situated persons, or that promote the law consistent with the objectives and purposes of the underlying cause of action, to child advocacy programs, or to organizations providing services to the indigent.

J. No appeal shall be taken from the granting of the certification of a class.

K. Any waiver by a person of their right to pursue a class action is contrary to public policy and shall be unenforceable and void.

§ 17 Permissive Joinder

Any federally recognized Indian tribe or member of a federally recognized tribe may join in any suit filed in Cherokee Nation District Court with permission of the Attorney General of the Cherokee Nation. Said Joinder shall not waive either expressly or impliedly the sovereign immunity of said tribe. Jurisdiction over said tribe or person shall be limited to the case pending before the Court.

§ 18 Limitation of New Action after Reversal or Failure Otherwise than on Merits

If any action is commenced within due time, and a judgment thereon for the plaintiff is reversed, or if the plaintiff fails in such action otherwise than upon the merits, the plaintiff, or, if he should die, and the cause of action survive, his representatives may commence a new action within two (2) years after the reversal or failure although the time limit for commencing the action shall have expired before the new action is filed.

§ 19 Interlocutory Appeals

The District Court shall not certify jurisdictional rulings for interlocutory appeal.

§ 20 Appeal

Upon the filing of the Petition in Error of a civil money judgment, the District Court may order the filing of a bond or other security in an amount sufficient to satisfy the judgment including costs in the event the judgment is affirmed on appeal. The Supreme Court may waive bond if the party demonstrates by petition or affidavit that he/she is unable to post the bond.

A. Stay with Bond on Appeal: If an appeal is taken from a monetary judgment awarded in Cherokee Nation District Court, the appellant may obtain a stay by supersedeas bond. The bond must be given upon filing the notice of appeal or after obtaining the order allowing the appeal. The stay takes effect when the court approves the bond.

B. Stay Without Bond on an Appeal by the Cherokee Nation, Its Officers, or Its Agencies

1. The Court must not require a bond, obligation, or other security from the appellant when granting a stay on an appeal by the Cherokee Nation, its officers or its agencies or on an appeal directed by a department of the Cherokee government.

2. When there is a stay of proceedings other than the enforcement of the judgment, the trial court shall have jurisdiction of proceedings related to the enforcement of the judgment as well as any other matter embraced in the action and not affected by the judgment or order appealed from;

C. Supersedeas Bond

1. Unless an undertaking is given, the perfecting of an appeal shall not stay enforcement of the judgment or order in the trial court if the judgment or order is for any of the following:

a. Money or the payment of money, whether consisting of a special fund or not, and whether payable by the appellant or another party to the action;

b. Costs awarded which otherwise would not have been awarded as costs.

2. The undertaking shall be on condition that if the judgment or order or any part of it is affirmed or the appeal is withdrawn or dismissed, the party ordered to pay shall pay the amount of the judgment or order, or the part of it as to which the judgment or order is affirmed, as entered after the receipt of the remittitur, together with any interest which may have accrued pending the appeal and entry of the remittitur, and costs which may be awarded against the appellant on appeal;

3. The undertaking shall be for double the amount of the judgment or order. The liability on the undertaking may be enforced if the party ordered to pay does not make the payment within ten (10) days after the filing of the remittitur from the reviewing court;

4. If a surety on the undertaking pays the judgment, either with or without action, after the judgment is affirmed, the surety is substituted to the rights of the creditor and is entitled to control, enforce, and satisfy the judgment, in all respects as if the surety had recovered the judgment;

5. Costs awarded by the trial court shall be added to the judgment for purposes of determining the bond amount;

6. Attorney fees awarded shall be added to the judgment for purposes of determining the bond amount.

D. A decision of the Supreme Court of the Cherokee Nation shall lift the stay and the bond shall be released to the prevailing party immediately.

§ 27 Unfair Competition Law

A. The Cherokee Nation declares that the purpose of this section is to safeguard the public against the creation or perpetuation of monopolies and to foster and encourage competition by prohibiting unfair, dishonest, deceptive, destructive, fraudulent and discriminatory practices by which fair and honest competition is destroyed or prevented;

B. As used in this Act, unfair competition shall mean and include any unlawful, unfair or fraudulent business act or practice and unfair, deceptive, untrue or misleading advertising and any other act prohibited by this Act;

C. Any person who engages, has engaged, or proposes to engage in unfair competition may be enjoined. The court may make such orders or judgments, including the appointment of a receiver, as may be necessary to prevent the use or employment by any person of any practice which constitutes unfair competition, as defined in this section, or as may be necessary to restore to any person in interest any money or property, real or personal, which may have been acquired by means of such unfair competition. Any person may pursue representative claims or relief on behalf of others or they may be brought by the Attorney General of the Cherokee Nation;

D. The court may, in its discretion, include in any injunction against a violation of this chapter such other restraint as it may deem expedient in order to deter the defendant from, and insure against, his committing a future violation of this Act;

J. The remedies or penalties provided by this Act are cumulative to each other and to the remedies or penalties available under all other laws of Cherokee Nation.

§ 28 Remedies and Procedures

In addition to the specific remedies above, the below remedies shall also govern:

A. Any person who engages, has engaged, or proposes to engage in violations of this Act shall be liable for each violation, which shall be assessed and recovered in a civil action. The number of violations shall be computed based upon each item sold, each marketing material distributed and each prescription filled in violation of this Act. A single act may result in multiple violations of the CNUDPA. Penalties shall be cumulative for violations of each section of the CNUDPA;

B. The Cherokee Nation may bring an action for any violation of this Act on behalf of itself and tribal citizens for the recovery of damages, civil penalties, injunction and all other remedies available by law. Whenever the Attorney General has reason to believe that any person is using or is about to use any act or practice declared to be unlawful, he may bring an action in the name of the Cherokee Nation against such person to restrain by temporary restraining order or preliminary or permanent injunction the use of such method, act or practice. The court may issue temporary restraining orders or preliminary or permanent injunctions and make such other orders or judgments as may be necessary to restore to the Cherokee Nation or any person who has suffered any loss by reason of the use or employment of such unlawful method, act or practice. If the court finds that a person has employed any act or practice which he knew or should have known to be unlawful, the court may require such person to pay to the Cherokee Nation a civil penalty of not more than ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for each such violation and also may require the said person to pay the reasonable costs of investigation and litigation of such violation, including reasonable attorney fees. If the court finds any act or practice unlawful with regard to any security or any contract of sale of a commodity for future delivery, the court may issue such orders or judgments as may be necessary to restore any person who has suffered any a loss up to three but not less than two times that amount if the court finds that the use of the act or practice was a reckless violation, a civil penalty to be paid to the Cherokee Nation of not more than ten thousand dollars ($10,000) for each such violation, and also may require said person to pay the reasonable costs of investigation and litigation of such violation, including reasonable attorney fees;

C. Any person entitled to bring an action may, if the violation of this Act has caused similar injury to numerous other persons similarly situated and if the court finds in a preliminary hearing that he adequately and fairly represents such other persons, bring the action on behalf of himself and such other similarly injured and situated persons; the court shall require that notice of such action be given to unnamed petitioners in the most effective practicable manner. Notice of any proposed settlement or compromise shall be given to all members of the class of petitioners in such manner as the court directs;

D. The court shall impose a civil penalty for each violation of this Act. In assessing the amount of the civil penalty, the court shall consider any one or more of the relevant circumstances presented by any of the parties to the case, including, but not limited to, the following: the nature and seriousness of the misconduct, the number of violations, the persistence of the misconduct, the length of time over which the misconduct occurred, the willfulness of the defendant's misconduct, and the defendant's assets, liabilities, and net worth;

E. In addition to any liability for a civil penalty pursuant, any person who violates this Act, and the act or acts are perpetrated against one or more senior citizens or disabled persons, may be liable for a civil penalty not to exceed twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) for each violation, which may be assessed and recovered in a civil action;

F. Any court of competent jurisdiction hearing an action pursuant to this Act may make orders and judgments as may be necessary to restore to any person, senior citizen or disabled person any money or property, real or personal, which may have been acquired by means of a violation of this chapter. Restitution ordered pursuant to this subdivision shall be given priority over recovery of any civil penalty designated by the court. If the court determines that full restitution cannot be made to those disabled persons, either at the time of judgment or by a future date determined by the court, then restitution under this subdivision shall be made on a pro rata basis depending on the amount of loss;

G. Any person who intentionally violates any injunction shall be liable for a civil penalty not to exceed twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) for each violation. Where the conduct constituting a violation is of a continuing nature, each day of that conduct is a separate and distinct violation. In determining the amount of the civil penalty, the court shall consider all relevant circumstances, including, but not limited to, the extent of the harm caused by the conduct constituting a violation, the nature and persistence of that conduct, the length of time over which the conduct occurred, the assets, liabilities, and net worth of the person, whether corporate or individual, and any corrective action taken by the defendant. For the purposes of this section, the court issuing such an injunction or order shall retain jurisdiction, and the cause shall be continued, and in such case the Attorney General acting in the name of the Cherokee Nation may immediately petition for recovery of such civil penalty;

H. Any person entitled to bring an action may bring an action against that person who used or employed any method, act, or practice declared to be unlawful, to recover or obtain any of the following:

1. Three times actual damages, or $5,000, whichever is higher;
2. An order enjoining the methods, acts, or practices;
3. Restitution of property;
4. Civil penalty;
5. Punitive damages;
6. Equitable relief; and
7. Any other relief that the court deems proper.

1. That the consumer has suffered physical, emotional, or economic damage resulting from the defendant's conduct; and
2. That an additional award is appropriate.

J. In determining whether to impose a civil penalty and the amount thereof, the court shall consider, in addition to any other appropriate factors, the extent to which one or more of the following factors are present:

1. Whether the defendant knew or should have known that his or her conduct was directed to one or more senior citizens or disabled persons;
2. Whether the defendant's conduct caused one or more senior citizens or disabled persons to suffer: physical impairment or injury, loss or encumbrance of a primary residence, principal employment, or source of income; substantial loss of property set aside for retirement, or for personal or family care and maintenance; or substantial loss of payments received under a pension or retirement plan or a government benefits program, or assets essential to the health or welfare of the senior citizen or disabled person;
3. Whether one or more senior citizens or disabled persons are substantially more vulnerable than other members of the public to the defendant's conduct because of age, poor health or infirmity, impaired understanding, restricted mobility, or disability, and actually suffered substantial physical, emotional, or economic damage resulting from the defendant's conduct.

K. In any action under this Act, it is not necessary to allege or prove actual damages or the threat thereof, or actual injury or the threat thereof, to the plaintiff. But, in no case shall the total award of damages in a class action be less than five thousand dollars ($5,000). In addition to injunctive relief, any plaintiff in any such action shall be entitled to recover three times the actual damages, if any, sustained by any person who has assigned to the plaintiff his claim for damages resulting from a violation of this Act;

L. Any action brought under the CNUDPA shall be commenced not more than six (6) years from the date of the last commission of such act or practice that is a violation of this Act;

M. Aggregate data and evidence shall be admissible if found by the court to be relevant.
