RE: Legislation

Please be advised that I am not endorsing Legislative Act 99- An Amending Legislative Act 8-97 and Cherokee Nation Code Title 19, Chapter 3. Section 21 Entitled "Compensation of Council Members" ♦ Generally:" and Declaring an Emergency.

Legislative Act 99- provides for additional compensation and benefits for the Council and, in fact, evidences a dramatic public policy change in the character and function of the Council. Legislative Act 99- indicates that members of the Council are no longer citizen volunteers but full time professionals.

This public policy change is evidenced by the subject legislation providing for employment benefits including: 1) Health Insurance, 2) Long Term Disability Insurance, 3) Workers Compensation Insurance; and 4) Life and Accidental Death and Dismemberment Insurance. It is this public policy change and especially the process in adopting such a dramatic policy that I am most concerned. Below are reasons that I cannot endorse the Council passing additional compensation only months after taking office.

Public Policy

The better public policy is to communicate clearly to the Cherokee public, our constituents, and advise them of the issues surrounding the additional compensation issue. There appears to have been insufficient community notice and briefing on the issue. My observation is that the overwhelming majority of Cherokee people are adverse to increased compensation at this time. This negative public response indicates inadequate communication and education regarding the issues.

A better course of action, suggested by a member of Council, is to establish a compensation commission to review council compensation and to make recommendations. This is the well-accepted practice by the federal and state government I am disappointed in the process of adopting a full time professional policy when the overwhelming Cherokee public is adverse to the policy.

Constitutional Issues

The legislation, as written, has serious constitutional infirmities. The legislation states, "a new class of employees is created." While it appears this language is intended to qualify council members for various insurance policy coverage, it is in conflict with the Constitution. Council members are not employees. The Cherokee Nation's insurance policy can be rebid to provide for councilpersons without the creation of a special class of employees. This constitutional conflict is apparent in Article XII where it provides for dismissal of employees only "for cause" status after 1 year service.

The legislation as written creates a serious conflict. This conflict is evidenced by a recent unemployment compensation claim by Dora Mae Watie on grounds that she is no longer "employed" with the Cherokee Nation. The present legislation creates numerous problems including separation of powers. This constitutional problem invites litigation by citizens.

Budget

It would be a more prudent course of action to resolve the budgetary items remaining from the last administration and council before enacting additional compensation for the Council. As you are clearly aware, there is at least a 4 million liability tell over from the previous administration and council that has no appropriation. Furthermore, the Department of Interior policy change regarding indirect costs as applied to tribal council salaries and expenses has not been addressed.

Unanswered Questions

The Legislation docs not address the current status of Councilpersons who are employed MI time. There are no provisions to establish the functions of Council and reconcile those situations where certain Councilpersons cannot or do not perform minimum levels of attendance and activities suggested by the Legislation.

Proxy Unconstitutional

The President of the Council advised prior to the voting on the Legislation that proxy votes were not in compliance with the Cherokee Nation Constitution. Article V Section 11 provides that Councilpersons must be present to cast votes. (Actually, the requirement is that any enactment be by a majority of those in attendance. Thus, a proxy vote would either be superfluous or invalid.) Since the Council, as a body, overruled the Chair and endorsed proxy voting in violation of the Constitution, it appears the vote is invalid.

Consultation

Although acknowledge and support the independence of the Council, it is better public policy for us to cooperatively address these issues. Consultation may avoid many pitfalls such as those that will undoubtedly occur with the legislation deeming Councilpersons to be employees. I hope we can reconcile this issue.
